Executive Summary

This paper presents an update on the health and safety progress of Supertram.

What does this mean for businesses, people and places in South Yorkshire?

The transfer of Supertram back into public ownership has brought improvements in safety, governance, and operational efficiency for businesses, people, and places in South Yorkshire. Enhanced safety measures, stronger oversight, and a focus on compliance aim to provide a more reliable and secure public transport system. This boosts confidence for businesses relying on the tram network, improves passenger safety, and supports the development of a more stable and connected transport infrastructure across the region. The initiatives also foster community engagement, such as partnerships with schools, contributing to a safer and more inclusive environment.
